Members Present: Bob Hogan, Zach Wight, Betty Connor, Diane Marr, Steven Cheng

Staff Present: Jonn Lunsford, Darby Jordan

Called to Order: 4:25 PM

Minutes: January minutes were unanimously approved.

Public Comments: Beck Ivy was in attendance and spoke about a need from the school district. Fidalgo Elementary needs help with sets for their upcoming play. The high school art classes have been contacted and Beck was looking for any other groups that could help with this. It was suggested that maybe the ACT theater would be a resource.

Correspondence & Communication: Zach spoke about the Procession of the Species. They are holding their event on April 20th and are looking for support from the Arts Commission in the form of donation of the Depot. The Board voted in full support of this donation as it is a free community event and open to the public.

Spring/Summer 98221 Gallery Show: Bob shared that the Call to Artists is out now and being spread on social media as well as the City website. There is no theme to this show. Discussion was had about purchasing display cases for the art. At this time, Terry is happy to loan her cases.

Piano-Cortes

Bob spoke about Piano-cortes. He has reached out to three piano tuners and is waiting to hear back.

Art on the Streets: Due to technical issues, this item will be presented at a later date.

Art Classes at ASAC: The concept is to open classes for seniors and kids at the senior center in some form. One option is to have the kids create art and have a show at the Center. Staff is looking at the fall conference week in October.

Other Business: None

Meeting adjourned at 4:48pm
